Code of Ethics

The attunement service employs non-touch spiritual technology, including prayer and meditation, to allow currents of blessing to flow through the endocrine and other anatomical systems to bring physical and spiritual alignment and to enhance a person's quality of life.

Attunement is a sacred healing art and spiritual practice. The attunement approach includes but is not limited to the following premises:

- Spirit infuses all life forms, including human beings.
- Spirit is the radiant source of life and of healing.
- Healing occurs as a natural result of the restoration or increase of the radiant flow of life.
- Attunement is a process that focuses on bringing body, mind and heart into harmony with Spirit.
- The attunement practitioner assists in creating a safe atmosphere for the client to open to the currents of life.

The practice of attunement includes:

- Sharing attunement one-on-one in a professional relationship with a client i.e. where there is any payment—money (fees or donations), time, products or services--received in exchange for attunement services rendered;
- Sharing an attunement with a family member, friend, associate or peer, with or without remuneration;
- One-on-one distance-attunement;
- Group or collective attunement e.g. circles, mandalas, world radiation, blessing times.

As an attunement practitioner, I understand that

- The spiritual current within all life forms is the source of healing;
- It is my responsibility to respect the inherent spiritual nature of my client;
- My focus is on the flow of life, not ill conditions;
- I use my skills of perception and radiant giving to assist in balancing and increasing the flow of life energy in and through my client;
- The attunement relationship is a collaborative one, in which the client and I work together in creative partnership;

- In any attunement that I share there is an inherent power differential because of my role as a practitioner, therefore I have a responsibility to use my power and influence consciously and with care;
- Manipulation, or misuse of power, in any form – emotional, physical, mental, financial, verbal or sexual – is unacceptable and is grounds for revocation of certification.

I agree

- To obtain permission before sharing a one-on-one attunement;
- To respect the physical boundaries of my clients and to be aware of the sensitivities many people have in this area;
- To refrain from engaging in any sexual conduct or sexual activities involving my clients;
- To hold confidential whatever transpires in the professional relationship, except where prohibited by law and/or when given permission by my client;
- To refrain from diagnosing or treating disease and from making any claims regarding the ability to cure disease;
- To give advice only if asked and then to do so within the scope of my expertise;
- To refrain from judging my clients; rather, to receive all circumstances with compassion and to respect the choices made by those I serve, knowing that we each are responsible for our own worlds;
- To perform only those services for which I am qualified, and to represent accurately my education, certification and professional affiliations;
- To maintain the practitioner / client relationship only as long as it seems to be of spiritual benefit to the client, and not to continue the relationship for any financial or other gain;
- To refer my client to other professionals when appropriate;
- To participate in ongoing education and collaboration with my peers, mentors and teachers in order to further develop my abilities;
- To work in complementary ways with other healing arts practitioners and professions.

As an attunement practitioner I understand and agree to the above Code of Ethics. I take responsibility for clear, ethical and professional relationships in the extension of my attunement service. If I violate any of the stipulations above, I understand that my certification may be revoked by the Leadership Group of the International Emissaries Attunement Guild.
